OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY.

Janesville Daily Gazette.

VOLUME 8.

JANESVILLE, WIS., SATURDAY, NOV. 5, 1864.

NUMBER 213.

THE WEEKLY GAZETTE is now the largest paper printed in the State, and having the matter published in the Daily to select from, we challenge comparison with any newspaper in Wisconsin. In correct political doctrine, in reliable market reports, in giving the latest news from all quarters in Wisconsin, and in local information relating to this city and county, we shall spare no pains to make the WEEKLY GAZETTE worthy of public patronage and support.

The News.

Advices from Missouri indicate that Price is badly used up, and that the remainder of his army is fleeing into Arkansas. This is probably the last we shall hear of Price for some time.

Hood's army consisting of 35,000 men, is now on the north side of the Tennessee river. His men are in light moving and fighting trim, and he has no supplies save such as he gathers in the country through which he passes. The latest information from these states is that "Hood has done just what Sherman wanted him to," and Sherman telegraphs to his friends that they need feel no anxiety on his account. It is stated that General Thomas has been put in a position to take care of Hood, and that he means to be with him through evil as well as good report. Telegraphing is prohibited for the present.

The rebel Major General Marmaduke, Brigadier General Cabell and several rebel Colonels, have been sent to Johnson's Island for safe keeping.

Three inches of snow fell in St. Louis yesterday.

The campaign in Missouri is supposed to be at an end. Generals Rosecrans and A. J. Smith have returned to St. Louis and the armies are following in their wake, divided into two divisions one North and one South of the Missouri.

An examination of the supposed raiders at Ogdensburg, revealed the fact that they could give no account of themselves, and that they were re-committed to jail.

It is rumored that Rosecrans will take the place of Meade in Grant's army, and that Banks will take the place of Rosecrans in the west.

A dead in female shape is leading a band of cut-throats in Kentucky, and the guerrillas generally are holding a high carnival of blood and murder. All the devilish passions bred by the institution of slavery, seem to be let loose.

Gold closed at 2.25, which means that McClellan's friends are doing their best to help him. It will be lower next Wednesday.

If you have any thought of voting for George B. Smith next Tuesday, remember that George helped to make the celebrated canvass of the votes from Bridge Creek where there was not a single living inhabitant at that time. George B. you see, has no more honesty now than then. Vote for Sloan who is an honest man.

LIEUTENANT CUSHING's expedition to destroy the ram Albatross, was one of the boldest achievements of the war. The formidable iron-clad was in the Rappahannock River, eight miles above the point where it empties into Albemarle Sound; and the banks of the river, which does not exceed 200 yards in width, were lined with rebel pickets. At one point a passage of twenty yards defended by cannon, had to be run through. Lieutenant Cushing's little vessel ran this gauntlet in safety and a torpedo was exploded under the Albatross. At the same moment the guns of the latter were fired, sinking the small vessel of the attacking party. They all had to take to the water. Only the Lieutenant and one other man escaped capture or drowning. Lieutenant Cushing has arrived in Washington. He has been promoted two degrees and will doubtless receive the thanks of Congress.

FOR THE ASSEMBLY.—When you go to the polls next Tuesday, be certain that the name of J. B. Cassoday is on your ticket for the assembly. The question of compelling the railroads in the State to carry wool, will be up again this winter, and if anybody can accomplish anything in that direction, it is the Union men in the legislature that must do it. There won't be copperheads enough in the next legislature to sink, if every one of them was a skunk, and it is worse than idle to expect anything from a man of that party for a purpose like this. If you want anything done, therefore, in the direction indicated, vote for a man who will have some influence with the dominant party in the assembly. Vote for Cassoday.

COUNTING CHICKENS BEFORE THEY ARE HATCHED.—Some one who signs himself "Democrat," and we all know that democrats never lie, writes to the Chicago Times from Beloit, closing his letter as follows:

You will hear a glorious record from us on the 8th of this month. Rock county has actually given from 2,000 to 5,000 republican votes. Now mark my prediction: It will not give Lincoln 500 majority. I know what I write. The farmers are all changing their views, and with a fearless step, will march up to the polls and cast their votes for our gallant candidate, the people's choice, Geo. B. McClellan.

"Democrat" we hope, may live until after next Tuesday night, when he will see how false a prophet he is.

Remember George B. Smith was one of the original Forty Thieves, and that he was Attorney General of the State and one of the canvassers at the time Barlow was counted into the office of Governor by forged returns procured through the agency of the democratic office holders. Remember this next Tuesday and cast your vote for I. C. Sloan.

The Madison Journal says.—The many friends of Hon. S. D. Hastings, State Treasurer, will be glad to hear that, after several months absence, during which he has been under treatment for a severe attack of ophthalmia, he has returned home, very much improved in health, and resumed the important duties of his office.

How a True Soldier Feels.

(For the Gazette.)

Major D. C. Smith, Paymaster in the U. S. Army, from Minnesota, who was murdered by the guerrillas who made a night attack on the steamer Belle of St. Louis, on the 28th ult., near Memphis, will long be remembered by those who knew him as a true patriot and soldier. He was formerly, for about eighteen months, in charge of the public school at Roscoe, Ill., where his earthly remains now rest, as he desired they should. When the war broke out he was living on a farm in Minnesota. He promptly answered the first call for volunteers, and joined the First Minnesota Regiment, of three months men, as a private. He was elected to a Lieutenant's position. He faithfully served his three months out, and then re-enlisted for the war. Being severely wounded at the battle of Antietam, he was honorably discharged from the service. Afterwards, still suffering from his wound, he entered the service in the capacity of Paymaster, and was engaged in the duties of this position at the time of his death. Major Smith had hosts of friends. He lived seventeen hours after he was shot before death came to his relief. He was a courageous and patriotic to the last. He remarked to a young friend who had served him as clerk, when it became evident that he must die, that he had to express one regret, and that was, that he must go without having first deposited his vote for Lincoln and Johnson.

He felt on this subject, just as every true soldier feels, that the reelection of Mr. Lincoln was demanded by every consideration of justice, patriotism and humanity. Let the true friends of the Government bear in mind this last regret of a dying soldier, and as he would have done, so may they all do. In voting for Mr. Lincoln we are in true sympathy with the great body of the soldiers of the Union army.

Report From One of the Sentinels.

Editors Gazette.—I have been around considerably of late, have been talking some for the good cause, and am glad to express it as my honest conviction that the battle is going well. The enemies of the Administration are "exceedingly mad," but fortunately they are not numerous enough to defeat the hosts of loyalty that are doing battle for the Union. Governor Seymour and his "friends" cannot steal votes enough to make even a respectable minority for little Mac. Next Tuesday will complete the grandest triumph ever achieved in this land—a triumph that will be a lesson to demagogues and despots in all coming time. G. W. L. Nov. 5th.

THOUGH neither Detroit nor Buffalo was attacked on Sunday night, there is good reason to believe that their immunity was gained by the strong defensive preparations adopted rather than by any willing abandonment of the conspirators' designs. In both cities large numbers of suspicious looking characters had been observed for many days. At Detroit, Saturday night, about seventy-five men registered their names at the different hotels, without baggage, and it is estimated that about three hundred strangers are in the city. They are closely watched and several arrests have been made. The streets are still patrolled; a tug, well armed, guards the river, and large numbers of arms have been collected in both Dearborn and Detroit. Gen. Hooker, it is said, will keep a garrison of 1,500 men at Detroit during the winter. At Buffalo on Sunday night, a green rocket was sent up, which was followed by another from the Canada shore, being, as is supposed, an exchange of signals. The Mayor of Buffalo received Thursday, a warning from Secretary Seward, that a rebel plot had been formed in Canada to burn Buffalo and other Northern cities on election day. Of course all along the frontier, and at other points, perhaps, every precaution will be taken against any attack or hostile demonstration.

There are not wanting evidences that the Democratic leaders in the Empire State are preparing for a demonstration not unlike, perhaps, the draft riots of July, 1863. The Postmaster of Brooklyn has written to Washington, earnestly asking for military protection at the polls, while, on the other hand, Governor Seymour, in a proclamation declares that no soldiers shall be near the voting places in the capacity of guard, and indulges in glittering generalities about the freedom of the ballot-box, etc., manifestly intended to excite the passions of all the opponents of the Government. There were rumors at Washington yesterday that Governor Seymour had taken several rash steps toward opposing the Government, which, though doubtless untrue, had enough of plausibility to make loyal people wish that Gen. Butler—who is in Washington—was in New York with plenary powers.

ONEST A. BROWN, heretofore vehemently opposing Mr. Lincoln, now declares that the choice between the candidates of Baltimore and of Chicago is virtually a choice between Union and Disunion, hence this should end till the rebellion is put down and the authority and majesty of the Government vindicated.

As no citizen can vote for McClellan without voting for Pendleton, the "avowed" disunionist, the only safe course is to vote against both of them.

AN AFFRAY IN CLINTON.—A correspondent of the Beloit Journal, writes from Clinton as follows:

On the 16th, inst. two citizens of our town of the Irish persuasion, named respectively, Edward Hollaran and Mike Hogan, with their wives repaired to the city of Beloit, ostensibly for the purpose of attending the Catholic Church, but probably, for the purpose of having a "good time." The male portion of the company became so spirited during the day that they concluded to attend meeting in the evening also, and stopped in to some of these delightful places in town, called by the euphonious name of saloon, but which in reality were resounding the infernal regions, than anything earthly. Here they still further inflamed the spirit. Mrs. Hogan, fearing the consequences left them, and walked home, carrying her child in her arms. Sometime in the evening the remainder of the party started for home, fully prepared to do any work the devil might suggest to their frenzied brains, and it seemed to crop out in running horses, pounding one another's faces, slapping each others' respirators, and throwing one another out of the wagon. In these exploits Hogan seemed to get the worst of it. People on the road interfered once or twice, set them at rights and admonished them to go quietly home. The result of the affair is, that Hogan died on 18th inst., and Hollaran, I am informed, to be put on trial for murder.

SATURDAY NIGHT IN EDINBURGH.—A correspondent, writing from Edinburgh, draws the following picture of that city on Saturday night, he says: "Saturday night in Edinburgh shows, I think, more of Scotland's curse of drunkenness, than any other town in Scotland. About nine o'clock, when evening is drawing its foggy shroud over the city, the High Street and Canongate are almost impassable, and among the noisy crowd are many fighting, swearing drunkards. Drunken women surround, filly chess-board, bargaining for a kind of crawling abomination called chess—Irish chess at four-pence the pound, able to assist the purchaser home! From every side there is a queer conglomeration of sounds, Street preaching, and fiddling, questionable songs, and unquestionable psalms, praying, and swearing, fighting and kissing, all going on at one time. The market stairs are swarming with individuals vending every conceivable article—such as tin-pans, lucifer matches, stay laces, combs, spoons, pepper-boxes, newspapers, blacking, black puddings and white, red puddings and grey. The crowd pressing to and fro, is mixed with a goodly sprinkling of drunken women, with infants in their arms. How the little children are hushed about and how little they complain. Verily the schoolmaster and the clergyman have much to perform ere we can hope in morality with less favored continental cities."

The Hartford Courant, which has long stood at the head of the Connecticut press, entered on the hundred and first year of its existence Saturday. It published a fac simile of its initial number, published October 29th, 1761, which had news from Boston only four days old.

Are you at work for the victory of next Tuesday—the victory for the cause our soldiers are fighting for?

"I have never given a dollar in support of this war."—George H. Pendleton.

Does't he caught away from home next Tuesday.

"When the Administration puts its policy on paper, we must support it, whatever we think of it individually. When you hear a man finding too much fault with the Administration, you can rely on it that in secret he is opposed to the war."—George B. Smith in 1862.

"THIS ADMINISTRATION is dragging its down to ruin faster, inconceivably faster, than the Southern Confederacy could do, if they were left unobstructed to assail us."—George B. Smith, in 1861.

LOCAL MATTERS.

APPLES.—David Winters, just below the Post Office, has a nice lot of winter apples for sale cheap by the barrel. decdrt259.

Rev. Mr. Maxwell will preach a sermon at the Methodist Church to-morrow evening before the Juvenile Missionary Society. Singing by the children.

NOTICE.—Preaching at the Congregational Church to-morrow morning and evening by Rev. J. W. Strong, brother of our respected townsman, Wm. B. Strong.

SALE OF VALUABLE PROPERTY.—We learn that Charley Holt has sold his fine house for $5,000. It is an excellent piece of property, and the purchaser has got a good thing.

ON ACCOUNT of the speech of M. H. Carpenter on Monday evening next, the Lyceum will not meet till Wednesday evening, the 9th inst.

By ORDER of PRESIDENT.

BOARD.—Two young gentlemen can be accommodated with board and rooms, or board without rooms, in a pleasant family. Inquire at D. Ballou's, on Bluff Street, near the railroad. Nov5d3de259.

MEETING TO-NIGHT.—The meeting at the Court Room this evening will be the last, owing to the meeting of the War Democrats on Monday night, that will be held before election day. We hope to see a full house, and trust every earnest worker for the Union cause will be present. Important business is to be transacted after the speaking. Speeches are to be made by W. L. Mitchell, C. G. Williams, L. B. Caswell and others. Let all who can attend.

ADJUTANT MILITARY WOUNDED.—We learn from Capt. D. A. Lowder of the 37th Wis. Infantry, that while they were on picket duty near the Weldon Railroad on the 29th ult., Adjutant Milmore of this city was shot by a rebel disguised in the uniform of a Union soldier. The ball passed through the left shoulder, grazing the back bone. The wound though extremely painful is not considered dangerous. He is now in the hospital at Washington.

C. G. WILLIAMS AT MADISON.—The Madison Journal compliments the speech of Mr. Williams, delivered in Madison last Thursday, and says:

"His remarks abounded in excellent points, and were enlivened by humorous illustrations as well as passages of earnest eloquence and touching pathos. It is not too much to say that no speech made here during the campaign produced a greater impression upon those who heard it, than did that of Mr. Williams, last night."

NORTHWESTERN FREEDMEN'S AID COMMISSION.—The following contributions in money to the N. F. A. C., by the churches and congregations of Janesville, on Sunday, Oct. 30, for the relief of "Freemen" are hereby acknowledged: Congregational, $28.25; Baptist, $29.00; Methodist Episcopal, $65.61; Private donation, $2.00; total, $121.92.

The day was unpleasant and other circumstances in some respects unfavorable, preventing so full and general a presentation of the subject as seemed necessary and desirable. In view of all circumstances, the sums contributed speak well of the liberality of the people of Janesville.

Several benevolent and enterprising ladies have also volunteered to collect packages of clothing, more especially for the benefit of women and children. And while the winter months are upon us, it is to be hoped that the thrilling fact will be constantly borne in mind that hundreds of thousands of this blameless class of people are experiencing all the sufferings and wretchedness of a state of absolute destitution and want. C. D. PILLSBURY, Agent for Wisconsin.

Beloit, Nov. 3, 1864.

Meeting of the War Democrats.

We are requested to state that the War Democrats of this city and county, will hold a meeting at Lappin's Hall next Monday evening, for the purpose of counseling together as to their duty at the present time. They have invited Hon. Matt. H. Carpenter, of Milwaukee, to be present and address them on that occasion, and he has positively promised to do so. Of Mr. Carpenter, as a public speaker, it is not necessary to speak, as he is too well known to the people of Rock county, to need any formal introduction from anybody. He is undoubtedly the most popular orator that Wisconsin can boast of at the present time. Gen. Carl Schurz alone excepted, and those who are present at Lappin's Hall next Monday evening, will hear one of the best political speeches of their lives, provided they go early enough to get in.

Mr. Carpenter speaks in Beloit this evening.

TAKEN UP.—By the Subscriber, in the town of La Prairie, on the 8th inst., three CATTLE—one aged 2 year old gelding with a ring hole on both hind feet, one brown gelding with mane rubbed off, and one bay filly, all of the same age. LATE SOUTHERN NEWS!

FROM WASHINGTON.

New York, Nov. 4.—The Commercial's Washington special says that 24,000 soldiers have been sent home from the Military Department this week, so that they may vote.

Notwithstanding the assertions to the contrary, the life sentences of Terry and Donahoe have been approved by the President, and they will be sent to some other state prison than New York.

The Post says the Mercantile Bank is not at all crippled by the defalcations of its teller. It has a surplus of 472,000 dollars over its capital of one million.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—In the case of Col. North the court to-day decided that it had jurisdiction. The Judge Advocate then moved a judgement of guilty which was denied. The defendants counsel then moved to try the prisoners separately. The motion was denied, and the court took a recess till 3 p. m.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4.—The streets are crowded with soldiers and civilians seeking transportation north. The Northern Central Railroad last night and this morning were unable to accommodate the crowds and some three hundred were left behind.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The trial of Col. North, Lovi Cohn, and M. Jones was resumed this morning before the U. S. Military Commission of which Gen. Doubleday is president. Mr. Gillett for the defense replied, still pleading to the jurisdiction of the court, to the argument of Judge Advocate Foster. He held that the Dorr case in Rhode Island and Vallandigham's case, both of which were referred to yesterday by Judge Advocate Foster, were by no means similar to the present case. There was no resemblance between the case of Vallandigham and that of Col. North and those charged with him. Mr. Gillett then proceeded to combat the provisions of the constitution which was one point, and were necessarily suspended. The extent of the suspension had nothing to do with the question before the court.

The learned Judge Advocate told the court that it was for the Government to protect the soldiers against fraud and in all their rights. It was right for the Government to protect the soldier in relation to all his rights so far as they are not out of his relation to the government as a soldier. The soldier, however, does not vote by virtue of his relation as a soldier, the right to vote is a relation springing out of a local law of State. It is the right of a man as a citizen, not a soldier. The Government may properly make laws preventing the sale of liquor to soldiers, and preventing any one from inducing them to sell their clothes and arms, but it has no authority in any way to attempt to suspend or control over civil rights, therefore when the State of New York, as a commonwealth passed a law in regard to certain rights it does not give the general Government control over such rights. In this case a crime has been committed. It is against the civil rights of the soldiers and against the law of New York, and a remedy is to be found under the law of that State. A number of authorities were read to show that the U. S. tribunals had no power to try cases arising under the Statute laws of the State and that no court had jurisdiction except such as is given it by the power creating the court.

New York, Nov. 4.—Special to the Evening Post dated Washington 4th says, the Daily Chronicle of this morning reports the rumor that Gen. Rosecrans will take command of the Army of the Potomac, in place of Gen. Meade. Gen. Banks, in the paper declares will succeed in the command of the Department of the Mississippi.

New York, November 5.—The Times' Washington special says Mr. Whiting, solicitor of the War Department, says that on the first of October he had received under the last call over 120,000 volunteers, and he had been informed by authority to which he gave the highest credit, that the last draft when completed, would furnish all the men that would be required for the war.

The Tribune's Washington special says Lieut. Col. Murphy with the New York heavy artillery, whose arrest has been before announced, to-day confessed that a large number of soldiers' affidavits and powers of Attorney purporting to have been sworn before him and bearing his name were forgeries. He makes the assertion with reference to those whose names have been forged in Col. North's office.

FROM MISSOURI.

St. Louis, November 4.—Gens. Rosecrans and A. S. Smith arrived here last night. Smith's intention is to move eastward one column on the north side, and another on the south side of the Missouri River, with instructions to clear the country of guerrillas.

Advices from Upper Missouri say General Sully and his command are at Sioux City. Sully left his adjutant, Capt. Pace, at Fort Sully, to negotiate a treaty of peace with the Sioux, several chiefs being present for that purpose.

A private dispatch from Springfield, Mo., says our troops whipped Price again at Newton, Newton county, Mo., Date not given. We now hold our own, and the rebels are retreating into Arkansas.

General Rawlins, Grant's Chief of Staff, arrived here last night.

FROM NEW YORK.

New York, Nov. 4.—The bark Abraham Lincoln put into this port this morning with the Capt. and crew of the ship Shooting Star from New York for Havana, and the barks Mark L. Potter from Bangor, and Wm. Lavette from Sardinia from New York, all of which vessels were burned by the pirate Chickamauga. The bark L. Potter was burned Oct. 30, and the ship Shooting Star and Emma Hall on the 31st. The bark Abraham Lincoln was also captured by the pirate Chickamauga and hauled for $18,000 and sixty persons including the Captains of the barks Emma Hall, Mark L. Potter and ship Shooting Star were put on board of her and sent to this port.

New York, Nov. 5.—Messrs. Adams J. Parker, W. P. Allen and Wm. Kelley the commissioners appointed by Gov. Seymour to visit Washington to investigate charges of the fraud against the State agents for receiving the soldiers votes have made their report. They had interviews with the Secretary of War and obtained from him permission to visit in prison Col. North and Messrs. Cohn and Jones. The arrested persons who were subjected to improper treatment and great deprivation. They say that they could obtain no copies of the charges against the accused and have found no evidence that frauds were committed by them. They also state that soldiers desirous of voting the democratic ticket met with great difficulties in their efforts to do so.

The commissioners requested the Secretary of War that either Col. North and Messrs. Cohn and Jones should be given up for trial to the State authorities or that the proceedings in their cases should be postponed till after the Presidential election, and they hereupon on parole, neither of which being complied with, a communication was addressed to President Lincoln by them, stating the entire case, and their labors being completed they left Washington.

It will be seen that the desires of the commissioners that the postponement of the trial till after election, has been complied with by the adjournment of the court.

New York, Nov. 5.—A strong gale prevailed on the Hudson river yesterday, the tide being higher than ever before at this season of the year. At Cragers Station a portion of the Hudson River Railroad track, a few yards in length, was washed away.

New York, Nov. 5.—Maj. Gen. Peck left here this morning for the Canadian Frontier.

FROM KENTUCKY.

LOUISVILLE, November 4.—Tuesday night Sue Munday's gang of cut-throats surrounded the house of Mr. Harper, two miles south of Midway, made the old gentleman a prisoner, and without the slightest provocation, murdered their victim in a most cowardly and brutal manner. Mr. Harper was a union man, which was the only excuse the outlaws had for the perpetration of this inhuman outrage. It does seem that Sue Munday is lost to every womanly instinct, her heart wholly corrupted and her nature fiendish, for she rejoices in acts of cold blood and every species of crime. On Wednesday four guerrillas captured in Kentucky, by order of General Harbridge, were sent from Wilmington under guard of a file of soldiers to Mr. Harper's residence near Midway, and there shot to death in retaliation for the murder committed on Tuesday. We have not been furnished with the names of the men who were executed.

Wednesday night another raid was made on the little village of Allensville, on a branch of Railroad between Russellville and Clarksville. The guerrilla band numbered 50 men and the several stores of the place were robbed of goods valued at $12,000.

Wednesday p. m. 25 guerrillas made a dash into Rocky Hill station, on the Nashville Railroad. There were men sleeping on the track, in one of which was an old negro man with both legs broken. They ordered him to get up but he could not move quick enough for them, and they shot him. They then set fire to the cars, and burned them and the old negro. They met William Fox, a private of the 6th Ky. regiment and after robbing him, shot him.

Lieut. Col. Hammond has been appointed a Brigadier General.

FROM INDIANA.

INDIANAPOLIS, Friday, Nov. 4.—Hornea Heffron, Deputy Grand Commander of the Sons of Liberty in Indiana, who for some weeks has been on trial here for participation in a treasonable conspiracy, today turned States evidence and made startling revelations of the schemes of the Order. He said nobody but Democrats had ever been admitted into the Order, or would if they had applied. He confirmed the previous evidence of a military organization within the Order, and of the appointment of Major Generals to command it.

Dr. Bowles, one of the accused, was Commander-in-Chief, with a staff of which Dr. James B. Wilson, recently arrested, was
